"The Old Forgotten Door" by Hannah DeVries

There is an old forgotten door from many years ago
Behind lies an abandoned church where no one ever goes
One day a girl was walking by when a voice called out to her
"Come closer daughter and knock for entrance on the old forgotten door"
She raised her hand and softly knocked if he heard she was not sure
But the door creaked open and in she went though no one she could see
A light then shown, and on the wall, there hung a wooden cross
The voice then spoke again and said "My child, follow me.
For I will fill your life with light and your brokenness will heal"
The girl no longer was afraid for his great love she could feel
She gave her heart to follow Christ and the birds above did coo
The world rejoiced for in her heart the girl had been made new.
